SENIOR CLASS REVIEW

President.....	Donald Cox
Vice President.....	Josephine Dysert
Secretary.....	Joe Cain
Treasurer.....	James Myers
Adviser.....	Miss Williams

In the fall of 1932, we, the present Senior Class, began our high school career with an enrollment of eighty-three. Death took its toll in 1933, when two of our members, Farel Bantz and Harold Smoot, passed away.

During our sophomore and junior years we distinguished ourselves in athletics, dramatics and leadership.

Our class of fifty members, the largest group of graduates in the history of the Junior, has had a busy year. We, together with the faculty, played host to the class of 1935 on October 30, 1935, as a token of appreciation for the good speaking apparatus which the graduating class had left us. On December 14, 1935, we sponsored a successful carnival. We entertained the Juniors at a party on December 20, 1935. The outstanding feature of the evening was a Christmas exchange. The remainder of the evening was spent at cards and dancing. The class sponsored two all-school parties to which students were allowed to invite guests. The parties were well attended.

On the evenings of March 1st and 2nd, 1936, the class presented the play, "He Was a Gay Senorita." The following cast, under the direction of Mrs. Oakwood, was responsible for the success of the dramatization:

Daniel Benjamin.....	Joe Cain
Arnold Benjamin.....	Orville Gutteridge
Larry Moore.....	Earl Bantz
Lena Lutzenheim.....	Reba Wright
Fritz Lutzenheim.....	James Davis
Vera Stewart.....	Wilda VanAlen
June Gale...	Meredith Crawford
Mrs. Spangossi..	Dorothy Michael
Senorita Costa de la Torriente..	Wilma Johnston
Senorita Carlotta Ferrez.....	Ruth Condon
Patsy Forest.....	Harvey Schneider
Doctor Forsythe.....	Donald Cox

CLASS PROPHECY

Friends and fellow classmates, go with us a few years into the future, and let your imagination wander as ours has.

First, we visit Washington, our center of interest being the Capitol building. There we see Tom Blanton going strong after a few more of his kind, who are different members in the Senate among whom Bill Clinton and a Smith have just been given up in protest of their race. We have seen before when that James Dawkins was campaigning for the vice-presidency of the United States. We wait impatiently for the rest of the scene and hurry out when there will be the tax driver. Harvey C. Under was told to wait. We are met by Sam M. Myer now the proud father of James, Jr., and a tireless taker on child psychology. We withdraw as soon as it is politely possible and instruct our driver to hasten to a department store of his own choosing. As the elevator boy, Carlile Watkins, takes us to the top floor we discuss the happy marriage of Edna Cox. Here we see at the top floor a woman and a man. This is the young Robert. So, even my imagination waits for that wealthy society dame—why, bless my soul, it's Carmel Carter!

Before long we leave the store and are driven to the airport, where our pilot, Don Duke, awaits us. After that it is a quick walk to the airport, and we go to a restaurant right in the heart of the city where Wilma W. is the new star in performing. The head-waiter, Raymond Duke, directs us to our favorite table. The Master of Ceremonies, Jerry H. Gutteridge, announces the next number, a tap dance featuring Marian Ray with the music by a new concert of Cliff G. and his Orchestra. The pianist is Dorothy Michael—not a bad job she's doing, either. Having finished an excellent meal, the doorman, David Cole, bids us "good evening" as we depart. Then, speeding down the street, we see a new-fangled fire truck. As our driver makes way for it we catch a glimpse of the dignified fire chief. Can it be—it IS Russell Hendrickson!

Later on we break in on a party at Eileen VanAllen's studio. There's Louise Albert with a flock of still-eligible bachelors craving her attention. Why, one of them is Cloyd McFarland! There's Josephine Dysert, famous authoress of that new book, "Sophisticated Senior." We hear that Wilda VanAllen is teamed with Earl Bantz in a new screen role and that Winifred M. Newman has been promised a big part in the same picture. We see Arthur Dornas cornering Big Waters, who has established a better air-mail system for this country, to tell him about her trials and tribulations as a physical education instructor. Now we pop over and talk to Rena Wright about the latest news she's dug up for the New York Times. She tells us that she saw Wanda Sailer VanZandt, whose husband is prospering as a cattle buyer, at the circus the other afternoon, enjoying the antics of that clown Gae Gozitt. And it seems that Wilma Womack, attempted to drown herself because Henry LeRoy, that first breaker, has discontinued their engagement and is being seen with Alice Black.

We see that Miss VanAllen has hired a high-toned waitress, Helen Burke, for the evening, and has ordered food from Ruth Gordon's latest restaurant. Meredith Crawford isn't here, but in Hollywood is going dresses, so we hear. Lillian Fanny is away on a trip to Europe.

A few hours later we return to our hotel, of which Joe Cain is the proprietor. Then, to repent for our sins of the past week, we attend church early in the dawn. The theme of Reverend Donald Cox's sermon is "making no compromise and faith." It would seem that he has the Nevada Wife versus James Mason case on his mind, the former of which is sung for divorce and extinction of affection. There's Bonnie Stipp in the congregation—just back from a missionary trip to China.

In the afternoon we go to the hospital to visit Chester Prough, who was injured while working in a jambox. Frankie Bentley's helper by rushing him to the hospital in his milk delivery truck. Some of the flowers have come from Roberta Green's florist shop.

The Sabbath is over, and we see Bill Stoppel taking baskets of vegetables and fruit to his usual place in the public market. Watson, the manager of a thriving beauty parlor, has taken over a new car for some four dollars. Mark Moore, a man of assurance, has been entering his uncle's fortune papers and asks if we have tickets to the symphony concert in which Wilbur Royer is playing.

Lunching at Halma Harden's tea room, we encounter Wilma Johnston, a historian; Esther Brothers, a popular lecturer on Home subjects; and Gretchen Dorries, the buyer for Cunningham's Dress Shop.

No time now for musing. We must tip the waiter and hurry back to the office to give our secretary, Mary Ruth Carr, some dictation in writing a letter to Robert Fagaly in relation to funding for the Salvation Army, of which Mr. Fagaly is the director.

—R. G. & W. J.

The first big event of the year for the Juniors took place November 8th and 9th in the form of the Junior play. The play was of the mystery variety and was filled with several thrilling murders which were solved in due course by the deductions of the shrewd detective and his able assistant. The coaching of Miss Youmans and Mrs. Blackburn, and the cooperation of the rest of the class made the play a two-night success, in spite of bad weather. The cast was as follows: Philip Martin, Everett Peugh; Alice M. Smith, John C. Smith; Estelle Hannard, Rosalia McAlister; Thomas Newbury, Kenneth Seymour; Royce Bradley, John Hume; Inspector, Jack Lambert; Harry Ryan, James Rouse; Cora Flint, Margaret Gilen.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The class of '38 returned to O.T.H.C. with sixty-six members. Officers chosen were:

President.....	Richard Kist
Vice President.....	Mary Barco
Secretary.....	Leah Fenet
Treasurer.....	Charles Osborne
Adviser.....	Mr. Newton

The first social event of the year was the initiation of the freshman class followed by a return party honoring the sophomores.

The class pin chosen was so attractive that the entire school appropriated it.

In the class tournaments the sophomores won over the freshmen, but were defeated by the seniors.

The class of '38 hopes to go through the two remaining years of its high school career as happily and successfully as it has the past two years.

FRESHMAN CLASS

When the doors of O.T.H.C. opened in the fall the class of '39 entered with an enrollment of eighty-six members. The following officers were elected:

President.....	Leo Burke
Vice President.....	Jack VanZandt
Secretary.....	Max Myers
Treasurer.....	Betty Jo Casteel
Adviser.....	Mr. Dunn

Early in the year the sophomore class initiated the freshmen at a party. The freshmen reciprocated by entertaining the sophomores at a Hallowe'en party. Entertainment consisted of a radio program by members of the freshman class, dancing and a variety of games.

William Fagaly, Andrew Young and Clarence Neff represented the freshman class in athletics.

OPERETTA

The advanced glee clubs presented the operetta "The Gypsy Troubadour" on the evenings of the fourteenth and fifteenth of March. The large number of spectators who attended the performance were not disappointed for the players had been given excellent training. Miss M. had directed the music and dances and Miss Puttiferford supervised the dramatic parts. The scenery, which created the realistic setting of a Gypsy camp, was painted by Mrs. Blackburn, Clark Lambert and James Myers.

Vario, Todoro's nephew, takes Claire's valuable necklace and accuses Nikoli of stealing it. Both Rosita and Nikoli believe the other guilty and accept the blame whereupon Todoro declares they must leave the camp forever at midnight.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY

President..... Earl Bantz
 Vice President..... Reba Wright
 Secretary..... David Cole
 Treasurer..... Roberta Green
 Advisers..... Miss Youmans and Mrs. Blackburn

The Dramatic Society, instituted during the year 1934-35, has not decreased in enrollment, despite the fact that membership is limited this year to students fulfilling certain qualifications, consisting of points to be earned by the members. These points are earned by participation in dramatic and literary events in or out of school.

At regular monthly meetings, discussions, lectures or demonstrations are given by students or advisers of the club.

Every second or third week a program is presented by members of the society under supervision of a student director. These programs, which have been of varied natures, interested not only the students, but a large number of visitors. On Armistice Day, a debate was presented by two senior teams.

Casts of class plays and entertainers at school parties were chosen from the Dramatic Society.

Entries in the sub-district contest of the Illinois Speech League were:

Humorous Declamation, "At the Declam Contest"—Esther Brothers.

Oratorical Declamation, "The Price of War"—Gene Hart.

Extempore, "The Townsend Plan"—Josephine Dysert.

One-Act Play, "Rich Man, Poor Man."

The one-act play ranked first. Esther Brothers placed second in the humorous division, and Josephine Dysert won fifth in extempore. These students also entered in the sub-county contest of the Vermilion County Music and Literary Society. Both Esther Brothers and Gene Hart ranked second.

On April 17, the society presented an entertainment to raise funds. The one-act play contest entry, "Rich Man, Poor Man," was featured. The May Fete, which was held May 15, was sponsored by the Dramatic Society. The event was followed by the second annual Dramatic Society spring program given to acquaint the patrons of the school with the organization.

The Dramatic Society has developed to such an extent in the past year that other schools have followed its example. As a successful dramatic organization, it will probably show even more achievement.

AGRICULTURE

At the beginning of the 1935-36 school year a new policy was incorporated into the Agricultural Department. Only those students who live on farms or have an opportunity to carry on a farm are allowed in the department. During this period the department is not as large as formerly, but the projects are that much more important.

Every attempt has been made to organize this department on a strictly vocational basis, the aim being to train future farmers to be more efficient in the pursuit of their occupations and to be better citizens of the community.

The quality of the animals which were shown by the boys at St. Joseph and Danville was superior to that shown in previous years. This proved in the raising of grand champions and first prize animals in all classes. Consequently the show season was very successful.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Advisers.....	Miss Rutherford and Miss Doland

The addition of thirteen new members during the first six weeks of school brought the charter enrollment of the Home Economics Club up to 47 members. The pledges, a freshmen, were entertained at a luncheon and then formally initiated into the club.

The most important project of the Home Economics Club this year was the making of curtains for the stage. After the material had been purchased by the school plans for the curtains were made and carried out with the aid of Miss Rutherford and Miss Doland. The great improvement in the appearance of the stage and the assembly was sufficient reward for the labor and expense involved.

The afternoon of Wednesday, Dec. 18, was devoted to a Christmas tea planned by the foods classes and sponsored by the Home Ec. Club with mothers of the members as guests. About thirty mothers were present to enjoy the social event.

At one of the monthly meetings tests on social usage were given. Through these tests members gained knowledge concerning living with others, dating and dancing. As St. Patrick's Day was near, the members decided to have St. Patrick's Sisters, a variation of mystery pass. Gifts and letters passed among the club members for one month and at the end of that time the identities of the girls were revealed at a Saint Patrick's party and luncheon held in the gym.

As the girls' rest room was in very poor condition, the members of the Home Ec. Club accepted the responsibility of cleaning it. Curtains, soap and elbow grease greatly improved the appearance of the room.

The activities of the organization for the year culminated on April 24, in the annual Home Economics Club party, a hilarious leap year event.

ACORN STAFF

The staff is not wholly responsible for the success of the Acorn, for many leisure and study hours have been sacrificed by members of the staff in order that the Acorn might be completed. They have endeavored faithfully to produce an annual which will meet with the approval and interest of the reader.

ATHLETICS

In the fall Coach Dinsmore resumed his coaching at O.T.H.S. for the fourth year.

James Myers captained the football squad and did a very fine job of it. The manager's duties were taken care of by Byron Cole. Smith was chosen to play on the A. Little Six First Team. Myers and Einton were picked on the second team at quarterback and center, respectively.

Virgil Smith was elected as captain of the basketball team. A veteran of four years, hardwoud expressed the willingness of performing his task very ably. At the end of the season he made the A. County Second Team. Fred Cunningham found his position as manager exceptionally well.

In the spring the track team elected James Myers captain. Myers has been a consistent winner throughout four years of competitive events.

Our two pep boys, Roy and Gutteridge, and Glen Duke inspired the boys by conveying their enthusiasm to the rooters.

Georgetown seconds were the guests of Oakwood and they showed enough power to stave Oakwood's scoring threats. The game ended in a scoreless tie.

3. OAKWOOD 13—ALUMNI 13 September 27

The old grads returned to try to gain a win over the present gridiron stalwarts. The score at the end of the game was the same as the year before—a 13-13 tie. ## Girls' Athletic Association

President .....	Ardyth Dobbles
Vice President.....	Gretchen Dobbles
Secretary.....	Aileen VanZandt
Treasurer.....	Rosalie McAlister
Advisers.....	Miss Doland and Miss Rutherford

The Girls' Athletic Association, established in 1934, is affiliated with the Illinois League of G.A.A. It is composed of girls who have a definite interest in athletics. The fact that the enrollment dropped from 98 to 55 during the first semester is accounted for by the high standard of activity and sportsmanship with which the members must comply.

During the first part of the year the girls participated in organized activities two nights each week for ten weeks. Sports in which they engaged were soccer and baseball.

Members earned points through athletic participation at school, posture drills, dancing, and out-of-school athletics. For their efforts the members received awards from the state association.

A large percentage of the members received pins for having earned fifty points in unorganized activities.

At meetings held monthly, business was transacted, announcements concerning future activities were made and worthwhile entertainment was presented.

The G.A.A. sponsored a free-throw tournament in which contestants had one hundred throws. Nellie Wenderson placed first with forty-five baskets and Rachael Fenet ranked second with forty.

Social events of the year included a wiener roast and an open-air breakfast on the campus. Some of the girls attended Play Day at A. C. Brown on the sixteenth of May.

The girls have shown splendid cooperation with the teachers and with each other. The G.A.A. promises to be the most worthwhile organization of its kind yet established in this school.

THE NEW GYMNASIUM

In November, 1935, the Public Works Administration made a grant of $23,400 to Orono to help for the purpose of constructing a high school gymnasium. The voters of the township then approved of a $10,000 bond issue to cover the remainder of the cost of the building. The architects are Leach and Ludwig, who also designed the original school building. The general contractor is the J. W. Montgomery Construction Company.

Outside dimensions of the gym are eighty-nine feet six inches by one hundred fourteen feet. The playing floor is eighty feet by forty-two feet, while the entire interior space is eighty-seven feet by fifty-one feet.

Bleachers on the north side of the gymnasium have a seating capacity of seven hundred fifty and are opposite the stage. The stage is twenty-two feet high and forty-two feet wide and has an opening of twenty-six feet by fifteen feet. Two dressing rooms, one on each side of the stage, provide ample room for the actors and the room to the right which measures twenty-two feet by fifteen feet may be used as a classroom, if necessary.

Under the stage on the east, are varsity squad rooms, shower rooms and boys' physical education rooms. On the west side are girls' shower and physical education rooms.

On the north side, under the bleachers, the first aid and first aid room, as well as the Home Economics Department are situated.

The gymnasium will be connected with the school building by a new twenty-six feet wide and forty feet long. This will be the main entrance.

The building will be made of red brick, with a red tile roof, so that it will harmonize in design and appearance with the present building. It will probably be completed in July.

The old gymnasium will be used for boys and girls physical education classes and eventually may be transformed into classrooms.

As the number of students has increased rapidly during the last few years, the classrooms and this building seemed that some change seemed necessary. The new project will not only help this situation but will provide a meeting place for people of the community.
